

I love to teach here because high school students just like sponges. No matter how many new information that I give to them, they can take them all and ask some interested questions. I love it!!!

I know some kids said “Event though Adam is a ‘high-savvy teacher’, he really suck of teaching skill. He is more like ‘Walking Wikipedia’.”

Does it consider as a praise? Because not everyone can be a “Walking Wikipedia”. LOL.

Because of my outstanding academic background, after one week I get accept letter from the high school. The president said she didn't think about twice to hire me because she really like someone to challenge himself.

She is very welcome me to come to this high school as a Ecology Teacher, and she said she will give me some advise to be a good teacher.
