

THE END.

Looks like teaching is not a good idea for me. Maybe I should do something else.

I go to few high school later on, but all the schools let me leave because none of students like the way I teach. I feels very frustrate and lost. Now I am become a jobless.

For students who love ecology, they absolutely love my class because there is nothing I don't know about ecology. On the other hand, I know someone said I am a "Frankenstein" who is only living in my own imagine world. They feel so painful and stressful on class.

In the end of semester, I pass some evaluate sheets to let my students appraise about my class. No surprisingly, some students complain how boring is my class, and how bad is my teaching skill. A lot of the students are not willing to let me teach them anymore.

Ask colleague's opinion

Nvm, maybe I should find other job

Base on this situation, my colleague make a group discussion for me.

I feels very frustrate and nervous about it. Surprisingly, none of them suggest me leave because they understand I don't have much experience for teaching.

In order to change the bad teaching impression, some experienced teachers give me a suggestion to try it out:

Field-trip to Safari

Go to beach and clean out trash
